Dedication

For 16 years now, Maureen Poppers has been an integral part of the Lick Wilmerding community. She has brought an extended sense of camaraderie to the student body through the school's peer counseling program, which nurtures student-to-student support and advice on everyday problems. Peer counseling has become very popular since Ms. Poppers has been at Lick. The once a week sessions are a chance for kids to relax, vent, and get to know people from other classes. In addition to Peer Counseling, Ms. Poppers is always available to meet with students about issues that they don't feel comfortable sharing with anyone else. She is friendly, approachable, and udnerstanding, and is always willing to just listen; her straightforward and sincere attitude has allowed her to become the confidant of many a Lick student.

Ms. Poppers is also the faculty advisor of the Lick chapter of the National Organization for Women, and has been invoved with other clubs in the past, as well. She helps to organize events and fundraisers for these clubs, and has attended national women's conferences for the past few years in support of NOW. Ms. Poppers never fails to participate in school functions, either. She went on Senior Retreat this year, despite being a freshman advisor. This is the sort of gesture that shows just how much Ms. Poppers is dedicated to Lick and its students; she took time out of her busy schedule, which includes running her own counseling practice in addition to her classes at Lick, just to spend twenty-four hours with the senior class.

The 2001 yearbook is affectionately dedicated to Maureen Poppers, in acknowledgement of her extreme commitment to the health and well-being of Lick-Wilmerding and its students.

Headmaster's Message

Dear Class of 2001,

As you read this message, Commencement will be only days away. I offer you my sincere congratulations at this momentous time in your lives. Beyond acknowledging the many notable achievements that grace your transcript and that made your college applications so appealing, I also want to recognize, and to thank you for, the grace, good will and good humor that have characterized your four-year collective journey here on Ocean Avenue.

One way to view the importance of our astrological signs is to think of them as "windows" into the differences among and between people. "Being born under a different sign" can be a sort of shorthand that says "difference isn't good or bad; it is just different." Your class, from the beginning, has seemed to understand this and has therefore demonstrated a notable ability to put yourselves in other people's shoes. And, just as this talent has led to high degrees of empathy, so has it inspired you to enjoy and celebrate the differences among people.

In the years ahead, that is how I will think of your class -- as a special group of young people who sought to understand others and had deep empathy for them. As a consequence, you enriched others' lives. At the same time, you had the capacity to marvel at, and celebrate, those differences which, in turn, enriched your lives.

I wish you health, happiness and fulfillment as you travel life's highway, whatever sign directs your journey. And, I urge you to view your sign, or your innate and distinctive differences, only as your special angle of vision on the world. Seen this way, your sign, rather than being somehow limiting, gives you a lens on endless possibilities. I know very well that those possibilities are there for you, and I wish you inspiration, courage, optimism and strength as you embrace each one.

Al Adams, Head of School

There's a system in place. One that constantly evaluates our youths and our lives with no application of relativity. A heart; these are not on any applications. It's all about your numbers...Numbers which tell a young person at 18 they're 4.0 will succeed, a 2.5 will not. Below 750 on the SATs, and certain doors close. Now quality of person, sense of humor, through, and unless there is some miracle of timing or events, and greatness is stressed upon you, your life is over.

"Look, I really don't want to wax philosophic, but I will say that if you're alive, you got to flap your arms and legs, you got to jump around a lot, you got to make a lot of noise, because life is the very opposite of death. And therefore, as I see it, if you're quiet you're not living... you've got to be noisy, or at least your thoughts should be noisy and colorful and lively."

-Mel Brooks

The Invitation

It doesnít interest me what you do for a living.
I want to know what you ache for and if you dare to dream of meeting your heartís longing.

It doesnít interest me how old you are.
I want to know if you will risk looking like a fool for love,
for your dreams, for the adventure of being alive.

It doesnít interest me what planets are squaring your moon.
I want to know if you have touched the center of your sorrow,
if you have been opened by lifeís betrayals or have become shriveled and closed from the fear of future pain.
I want to know if you can sit with pain, mine or your own,
without moving to hide it, or fade it, or fix it.
I want to know if you can be with joy, mine or your own,
if you dance with wildness and let ecstasy fill you to the tips of your fingers and toes without cautioning us to be careful, be realistic, or to remember the limitations of being human.

It doesnít interest me if the story you are telling me is true.
I want to know if you can disappoint another to be true to yourself, if you can bear the accusation of betrayal and not betray your own soul,
if you can be faithful and, therefore, trustworthy.
I want to know if you can see beauty even when it is not present everyday and if you can source your own life from its presence.
I want to know if you can live with failure, yours and mine, and still stand on the edge of the lake and shout to the silver of the full moon, ìYes!î

It doesnít interest me to know where you live or how much money you have.
I want to know if you can get up after the night of grief and despair, weary and bruised to the bone, and do what needs to be done for the children.

It doesnít interest me who you know or how you can to be here.
I want to know if you will stand in the center of the fire with me and not shrink back.

It doesnít interest me where or what or with whom you have studied.
I want to know what sustains you from inside when all else falls away.
I want to know if you can be alone with yourself and if you truly like the company you keep in the empty moments.

Fanny
"Nobody cares if you stop here.
You can look for hours, gaze out over the forest.
And the sounds are yours too-
take away how the wind either whispers or begins to get ambitious.
If you let the silence of afternoon pool around you,
that serenity may last a long time,
and you can take it along.
A slant sun,
mornings or evenings,
will deepen the canyons,
and you can carry away that purple,
how it gathers and fades for hours.
This whole world is yours,
you know.
You can breathe it and think about it and dream it after this wherever you go.
It's all right.
Nobody cares."

I come bearing my soul

Deconstructing Aaron Platt-Ross: I am...

1. to be remembered better by some than by others.
2. brought as a lamb to the slaughter. -Isaiah liii
3. my brother's keeper. -Genesis iv
4. always better than I was yesterday, and will be better tomorrow than I am today.
5. the deconstructor of the "riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma." -Churchill
6. at one with my conscience.
7. willing to admit my faults.
8. now and always myself: no more, no less with the desire that you will understand who I am, & why you love me so much.

ARTIE KONRAD
-Enjoy-
Time is of the essenee because essential time jets by without notice.
Know this! That time must be perceived as short-lived,
Not to be lived short, but to be lived like tomorrow will never come.
And when it is done you could say that was fun.
No regrets will be there, but beware,
Of an empty life full of frugality and sileneed horns ceasing to blow their victory cries.
Time flies, lives die, and eyes
Close like a thirsty rose. Instead of watching it wilt right under you nose, Slow down and enjoy. Patienee is a virtue so time will not hurt you.
Make life a perfect ten. Enjoy every bit and read this again.

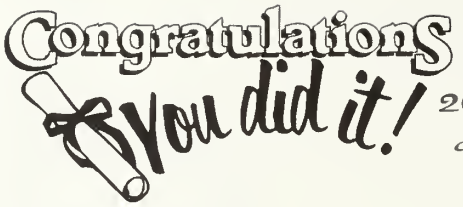
Greetings To The Grad



The L.W. Board of Trustees wishes the class of 2001 all the best. Now you have a fresh page on which to write.

Colophon

This book was developed using Adobe Pagemaker 6.5 ona handful of Macintosh G3 computers in the legendary Yearbook Studio at Lick-Wilmerding High School. With the exception of some sporting events and theatrical productions, most photos were taken with two Olympus 600L 35mm digital cameras, then adjusted and cropped using Adobe Photoshops 5.0. Planning and project management was handled with Microsoft Works 3.0 and Microsoft Word 6.0. Photos and prints were scanned at a minimum resolution of 225dpis, using the Epson Expression 800 scanner with transparency adapter. Most fonts are various sizes of AWPC-Ebony and AWPC-Constance Bold, a proprietary font from Walsworth Publishing. We printed low-resolution proofs on the HP2100 Series desktop printer.

This year's book is the product of several amazing, dedicated students who attempted to document every aspect of the school year, many times with very little reward, cooperation, or appreciation from others. We all owe our gratitude to Cameron Shaw and Brian Au for CONSISTENTLY seeing that work actually got done. Though we will be losing them, and most of our staff for next year, hopes are high that some talented and capable students will emerge and uphold the tradition of having a yearbook here at Lick-Wilmerding High School.

About The Cover

Whether or not you believe or understand what significance your sun sign has, we thought it would be interesting to profile the student-body to see what astrological make-up comprises the community. Why so few Leos? Why so many Aries and Taurus? It would take a full-fledged analysis to really make use of this information. Since we aren't really in that business, we had to just leave you with the illustration on the cover, along with a more specific breakdown for each class divider.

Here's how we did it:

1. We got birthday listings from the dayplanner, and the school i.d. photos from Kristine in the front office (if your face was in the wrong space, or it didn't show up, we apologize)
2. We scanned each little photo
3. Heads were then separated from the rest of the body in Photoshop, then placed on transparent backgrounds
4. The wheels were scanned and stylized so slices would provide openings for each group of heads.
5. Using layers, heads were merged into sun signs.

SPECIAL thanks go out to Aarin Schlosberg, Benjie Achtenberg, Jonathan Snowden, and Zoe Duskin. They all risked developing repetitive stress disorder (Jonny and Zoe aren't even on yearbook staff!) in order to get the cover done!

Additional thanks: Ali (she sold a record number of ads this year) the whole yearbook class (and honarble staff) the Senior Class for getting their pages in on time! Shelly Townsend, Amy Brockman and Howard Dusek at Walsworth Publishing.

Sincerely,
Karen Hellyer,
Multimedia Instructor and Yearbook Advisor
